TWO ARE PAROLED IN CIRCUIT COURT AFTER SENTENCED

Boy Gets Three Years for Stealing Auto from Thomas Tension of this City

ABRAHAM IS GIVEN ONE YEAR FOR TAXICAB JOYRIDE ROBBERY

City Loses Case Against Wager Involving Putsch Injury

Three years ago at Waupun, with the promise that the boy be paroled to the state board of control, was the sentence which Joseph Charles, aged 17, who stole an automobile worth $1700, the property of Thomas Tension, received in circuit court. The lad pleaded guilty.

Because he has a wife and three-month-old baby, Louis Abraham, who assisted in relieving L. Wolf of Sparks of a roll of $150 during a taxicab joyride, was let off by Judge Higgins with a sentence of one year in the county jail. The sheriff will parole Abraham so he may work and provide for his family. Two women, who participated in this robbery were previously sentenced.

The city lost its suit against W. A. Wager, according to the interpretation placed by attorneys upon a special verdict returned Wednesday afternoon. The jury found that Mr. Wager was not wanting in the exercise of ordinary care in the management of his automobile at the time the machine backed into and injured William Putsch, a street cleaner. The jury also found that Mr. Putsch was not wanting in the exercise of ordinary care contributing to his injury.

Trial of the damage suit of M. L. Brown against Paul Thomas John Wendling and Blaine Thompson for alleged false imprisonment, was started in circuit court Thursday morning. Brown was arrested the night of July 17 on suspicion of being a "pecker." It is alleged he was held in jail without a charge being preferred against him and was finally released.

BADGER ELECTED TO OFFICE BY NATIONAL RAIL COMMISSIONERS

WASHINGTON.—James A. Perry of Georgia, was elected president of the National Association of Railway and Utilities commissioners Wednesday for a one year term. Other officers elected included Carl D. Jackson of Wisconsin, first vice president, Dwight L. Lewis, Iowa, second vice president.

The president-elect in addressing the convention declared the preservation to the state commissions of the right of regulating railroads and rate making was one of the most important measures before the convention. Many believe, he said, that the "very existence of the continuance of state regulation is on trial."

ARMISTICE DAY PLEDGE

By F. W. Galbraith, Jr., National Commander, American Legion.

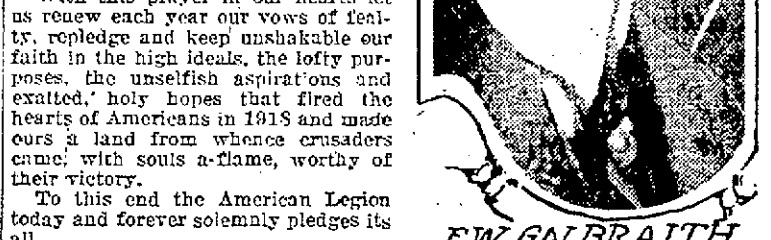

The swift triumph of our arms and those of our gallant allies which two years ago gave us the victory, the anniversary of which we observe today, marks the high-light of the present century in American affairs. Victories such as Armistice Day commemorates are not the issues solely of clashes of flesh and steel. They have a finer quality than that. They are the triumphs, as well, of an unconquerable spirit.

No victory, however complete, long can survive the spirit that conceived it. The annals of mankind are replete with example: splendid triumphs in behalf of splendid causes that have gone for naught because the spirit that made them ceased to endure.

This is only the second anniversary of Armistice day—a day destined, if we will, to keep company with the immortals of the calendar which mark great moments of history that shall never die. Succeeding generations will acclaim Armistice day. God grant they always shall acclaim it in the spirit that made it; and that this spirit, like the day, shall be imperishable.

With this prayer in our hearts let us renew each year our vows of fealty, repledge and keep unshakable our faith in the high ideals, the lofty purposes, the unselfish aspirations and exalted, holy hopes that fired the hearts of Americans in 1918 and made ours a land from whence crusaders came, with souls a-flame, worthy of their victory.

To this end the American Legion today and forever solemnly pledges its all.

WALL STREET BLAST DUE TO LABOR PLOT SAYS GOTHAM PAPER

Evening World Presents Result of Investigation of Explosion

VENGEANCE AGAINST BRINDELL RESPONSIBLE FOR DISASTER

Head of Building Council Had Many Enemies in Labor Ranks

NEW YORK.—The New York Evening World publishes a three page article under the headline "Wall Street Explosion Solved," in which it gives the result of its independent investigation of the disaster which took nearly two score lives last September and seeks to link the explosion with the building trust graft now under investigation by a joint legislative committee. The Evening World maintains that the explosion, instead of being the work of "anarchists" as charged by Chief Flynn of the department of justice, or the "Third Internationale" as charged by private investigators, was really a plot of labor men or labor sympathizers, directed in revenge against Robert P. Brindell, president of the Building Trades council. Brindell workers demolishing the Stock exchange building annex at Broad and Wall street, and contractors hiring Brindell men.

The newspaper, in setting forth its theory, asserted members of the regular union had been kicked off every building job in New York; that they were half starved by months of idleness; that unknown to its driver, a wagon containing a time bomb was sent to the Stock exchange annex by "freemason workmen or sympathizers," to "get" eighty-five Brindell workers alleged to have been engaged on the job by the wrecking firms of Albert A. Volk; that the wagon became tied up and could not get near the building; and that when the driver went to telephone, the bomb exploded.

The paper charges that Raymond Clark, a foreman on the job, who was reported to have said he had seen the driver, was shot within three weeks, in an attempt to silence him forever.

LABOR FEDERATION MEETS AT CAPITAL FOR FALL SESSION

WASHINGTON.—Jurisdictional agreements between the various international unions were considered the most pressing of the problems coming to the attention of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor which convened here Thursday in its regular fall meeting.

The jurisdictional disagreements to come before the meeting are expected to include a resolution adopted at the last convention of the International Association of Machinists. The resolution is understood to embody a request to the federation to see that its jurisdictional awards are enforced and to declare that unless a conference on the subject is called the per capita tax of the machinists' union would not be paid after a designated date.

MESSAGE THREATENS REPRISALS AGAINST ENGLISHMEN IN U. S.

WASHINGTON.—The British embassy Thursday delivered to the state department a copy of the message recently received by the British chief secretary for Ireland, dated New York, and signed J. V. O'Connor, and threatening reprisals against Englishmen living in this country if there are more "reprisals in Ireland" and after the fourteenth of November.

It is understood the department is investigating.

DUKE LUDWIG DEAD

PARIS.—The death of Duke Ludwig of Bavaria, aged 90, senior member of the house of Wittelsbach, to which the kings of Bavaria belonged, is announced in dispatches from Basle, Switzerland.

In some messages reporting the demise of Duke Ludwig he was confused with former King Ludwig III of Bavaria, giving rise to erroneous reports of the death of that aged ex-monarch.

OBSERVANCE OF THE ANNIVERSARY OF ENDING OF THE WORLD WAR IMPRESSIVE EVENT IN THIS CITY

NATION JOINS WITH FORMER SERVICE MEN TO HONOR THE DEAD

No Official Ceremonies Held in United States to Observe Armistice Day

TWO THOUSAND MEDALS ARE AWARDED BY NAVY DEPARTMENT

Parades, Memorials and Patriotic Talks Mark Day in U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

NO ceremonies of a national character were held in the United States in observance of Armistice Day on Thursday, but the nation joined with men who served the country during the war in observing the day, which in some states was made a holiday. In others governors issued proclamations, pointing out the significance of the occasion.

The exercises were for the most part parades, memorial services and meetings at which patriotic addresses were delivered. The United States naval department observed the day by awarding crosses and medals to men who did heroic work during the war, and in Washington the day was marked by the burial in the national cemetery of twelve officers and enlisted men who died while on service overseas with the navy's "marine corps."

BOYCOTT MAYOR PITTSBURGH, Pa.—

Protesting against the presence of Mayor E. V. Babcock in the reviewing stand, because the city recently issued a permit for what they termed "a pro-German tag day," scores of overseas veterans who took part in the Armistice day parade refused to march past the stand. After vainly trying to make a speech which was drowned by the cries of spectators and marchers, Mayor Babcock left the stand and the parade proceeded.

TRIBUTE TO GAMBETTA

In addition, France took occasion to remember that fifty years ago the country, defeated by Germany, owed its very existence for a time to Leon Gambetta, who took virtual control of affairs in Paris when the city was besieged by Germans and later succeeded in organizing armies to continue the futile struggle against the Teuton invaders. The heart of Gambetta, which had been preserved since his death in 1882, was inurned in the Pantheon, the national shrine of France.

IMPOSING PARADE MARKS AFTERNOON EXERCISES IN MEMORY OF EPOCHAL DAY

Various Military and Fraternal and Other Societies Participate in Event, Which Concludes With Commemorative Meeting

Two years ago today citizens of La Crosse left their beds at 2 o'clock in the morning when awakened by the gladsome ringing of bells and shrieking of whistles, to give vent to their joy over the ending of the world war. On that memorable day La Crosse witnessed the greatest demonstration in the history of the city, the celebration lasting the entire day and far into the next night.

PARIS AND LONDON PAY HIGHEST HONOR TO UNKNOWN DEAD

PARIS.—Official and civilian France Thursday did honor to the memory of the nation's sons who fell during the great war, the ceremonies lending a solemn atmosphere to the celebration of the second anniversary of the armistice with Germany. Paris, accustomed to observing its victory days and national fetes with rejoicing, turned aside this year and dedicated the day to memory and recognition of the sacrifice made by hundreds of thousands of dead who are sleeping in cemeteries along the battle lines.

Called from its grave on the field of Verdun, the body of an unidentified French "poilu" was carried solemnly through the streets and reburied under the Arc de Triomphe. Following the flag-draped gun carriage on which the coffin rested, walked President Millerand, cabinet members and three French marshals—Joffre, the hero of the Marne; Foch, whose genius accomplished the final defeat of Germany and Pétain, whose defense of Verdun will forever live in French song and story.

HONORED MEN AND WOMEN

Today, on the second anniversary of the day, nearly all of the La Crosse men and women who were in the service during the war, marched in review before the admiring eyes of thousands who lined the downtown streets, escorted by various war-time and fraternal organizations and other societies. It was an imposing turnout, and the American Legion is entitled to a full measure of credit for an observance of Armistice day which will go down in the annals of the city as an impressive event.

Directed by Colonel F. H. Fowler, marshal of the day, the various military and auxiliary organizations and the fraternal societies and others participating, began to form in line at Fifth and State streets at 1:30 this afternoon. Every detail of the parade formation had been arranged in advance and the lines were formed with military dispatch so the procession was able to start shortly after 2 o'clock.

Buildings Decorated

The "main drag" was all dressed up for the occasion, scores of flags and hundreds of yards of bunting, swinging to the wind in salute to the marching ranks. The decorating began on Wednesday afternoon, and many business houses had their men out in the teeth of the north wind early Thursday morning, putting up the colors. A feature of the decoration along the street was a window at Fourth and Main street in the Doerflinger store, with allegorical poster-pictures painted for the occasion against a background of flags.

Practically every industry in La Crosse, was closed at noon in observance of Armistice day and to permit employees to participate in the celebration.

SPANK GIRLS WHO WON'T JOIN IN TRIBUTE TO DEAD

LONDON.—The girl employees in the offices of Sylvia Pankhurst's communist paper, The Workers' Dreadnought, in Fleet street, were thrashed and the offices upset just after eleven o'clock Thursday by an angry crowd.

The leaders of the party, which raided the offices, alleged that during the two minutes of solemn silence in honor of the fallen dead, as provided in the Armistice day program, some of the women in the office were "singing, dancing and hanging in cans."

The indignant crowd in the street waited until the two minutes had passed, and then a mob of men and women invaded the Dreadnought offices. The men stood aside while the women invaders gave the girls in the offices a sound trouncing.

One girl employee later said the members of the publication's force who did not believe in the tribute of silence continued during the office and made some noise, but did not think it could be heard in the street.

Meet in Yeomen Hall

The commemorative meeting was held in Yeomen hall following the parade. H. L. Miller, principal of the University High school, gave a stirring address at this gathering on "The Price of Freedom."

Thirty organizations were represented in the big parade through the downtown streets this afternoon.

In the first section were a platoon of police, the Elks' band, Battery D, Second Wisconsin Field artillery, American Legion, service men, nurses, Service Star Legion, G. A. R. veterans, Women's Relief Corps, and Gold Star Mothers.

In the second section were Spanish War Veterans and auxiliary, Sons of Veterans and auxiliary, Red Cross, Women's Community council and allied organizations, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls.

In the third section were the Drum Corps, city officials, county officials, fire department, Elks, Knights of Pythias, Knights of Columbus, Y. M. C. A. and other organizations.

STUDENTS PREPARE TO WELCOME ALUMNI TO 'U' HOMECOMING

Returning Graduates Hold the Center of the Stage at Madison this Week-end

RECORD CROWD EXPECTED FOR GAME ON SATURDAY

Annual Bonfire and Snake Dance Planned for Friday

MADISON, Wis.—Homecoming of University of Wisconsin graduates occupies the attention of the university city this week-end. Thousands of former students are expected to attend the annual get-together and the season's most interesting football game.

The whole university section is preparing to receive the returning alumni. Gala appearances have already been assumed by stores and fraternity houses, which are decorating in honor of the occasion. It is expected to be the liveliest occasion of the year.

Football is the central attraction. Back for one real look at the Badgers in action, just as they used to watch them in the days of "Cub" Buck. Keckie Moll, Eddie Gillette and Van Hopper, or back even when Coach Richards was starting with Professor Pyro, Dr. Dean and Henry Cochems, the graduates expect to show the spirit that will mean the downfall of Illinois on the gridiron.

Action starts the day before the game. According to the schedule of the homecoming committee, registration of alumni will be held throughout Friday and during the early hours of Saturday evening will be the central attraction.

Two bands will be in the armory to put early life into the huge crowd that will assemble in the hall to hear Coach Richards, "Eddie" Gillette, and members of the team tell how the foe will be handled on Saturday.

Following the mass meeting it is planned to have the annual snake dance around the bonfire on the lower campus. Engineers' ministers the annual production of the engineering school, will be held on Friday and Saturday night for the first time.

A home parade is scheduled for Saturday when Illinois' coat will be led through the streets followed by students in "chabo" attire. Then follows the game, always the most interesting of the year from the viewpoint of the university. It is the occasion of the most intense interest and enthusiasm.

Over 25,000 are expected to attend. Saturday evening an alumni dance is scheduled for Lathrop hall. Sunday is the get-together day when graduates spend their time renewing acquaintances and when the fraternities have their annual big get-together.

Freshmen are busy this week gathering material and planning decorations for houses of the Latin quarter which are competing for prizes on the best layout. The competition is so keen that the winners will surpass any of recent years.

ASK McHENRY'S RETAIL

OSHKOSH, Wis.—Two formal and dash to movements were launched in Oshkosh Wednesday looking towards a reorganization of the municipal government. One movement, which built its inception largely among workingmen residing on the south side, is for wiping out the present commission form of government and returning to the old aldermanic form. The other movement is for a recall of Mayor A. C. McHenry, who at the recent primary was a candidate for nomination for the United States senate on a personal liberty platform. Petitions are being signed.

BIG PARADE TO BE PULLED OFF FRIDAY NIGHT

Demonstration Intended to Arouse School Spirit

In addition to the mass meeting in assembly Wednesday a big parade will be pulled off Friday night to work up the school spirit to the highest pitch in preparation for the football game with Madison Saturday. The parade will be on the order of last year's parade, and will be under the direction of the guards, each member being the captain of a squad or company. Every student should enroll with some member of the Guards to be. Sullivan, the new president of the Guards, chose Ed Kevin to take charge of the parade. He presented to the students during the mass meeting the plan of the parade and directions as to where to meet with their captains. He is making arrangements to get the parade band to lead the parade. The parade will be made more effective by the red lights which are to be displayed along the line of march. For the expenses of securing these lights, every student must bring money amounting to the enormous sum of five cents.

McCORMICK ELECTED PRESIDENT OF W. T. A.

Elected on First Ballot by Teachers at Milwaukee Convention

Mr. McCormick, the superintendent of schools, was elected president of the Wisconsin Teachers' association at the meeting at Milwaukee last week.

The issue at stake appeared to be the choice of the man who would reorganize the association so as to give the class room teachers a square deal. The method of voting was as follows: two ballots were attached to each membership card and each member was to make out his nomination ballot for president and a member of the executive committee. On the next day the election ballot was to be filled out and the person receiving the majority of votes would be elected.

Thursday, November 4, the nominations were made and when the tally had been counted Mr. McCormick was found to be elected on the first ballot, having received a sufficient majority on the nomination.

THIRTEEN NO JINX

FOR HI-TRIBUNE President Wilson may boast of his "lucky thirteen" but he's got nothing on the Hi-Tribune.

The initial copy of the school paper was published on October 13th by a staff, three of whose members have 13 letters in their names—Idamae Bentley, Stanley Berner and Thomas Maloney. The first night we solicited advertising we got 13 inches in 13 minutes and the first ad was given by a man who has 13 letters in his name—William Fraser of the Sturman and Fraser Clothing firm. Thirteen firsts advertised in the first issue. There's only one thing necessary to make our "lucky 13": the "luckiest 13" and that is to bring the subscription lists up to 670, 760, 850, or 940—they're all good numbers and the sum of the digits in each will give us one more 13 to add to our collection.

ELECTION RETURNS BY RADIO

The amateur wireless operators in this vicinity received the election returns for the high school election before the majority of students in the school did. Tuesday night, immediately after the votes had been counted, Robert White, the main station operator of the La Crosse Radio club, sent the news that Harding had been elected to the amateurs of La Crosse by means of his powerful set, which is located near the High school.

DEPARTMENTAL NOTES

Miss Desmond's English VII class was turned into an enthusiastic debating convention the first two days of last week. One student acted as chairman of the convention; the others gave nominating speeches for their various candidates for president. Abol Lundberg gave one of the best talks on social labor question ever heard in La Crosse, according to Miss Desmond. Sam Smith "waxed eloquent" in the merits of his candidate and almost persuaded his audience to vote for Debbs. Emma Hanson, for their part, gave one of the best talks on the English VII class. Talks for republicans and democratic candidates did not arouse nearly so much excitement as the speeches on prohibition and on the independent ticket.

Miss Mashek's English V class has been giving vocational talks. Some of the members of the classes applied to the following positions: electrical engineer, wireless operator, health nurse, distiller and kindergarten teacher.

The architectural drawing class of the Hixon annex is beginning its work on house planning. Each of the pupils of this class will have finished by the end of the semester a complete set of plans, elevation and details of a compact modern home.

The millinery classes before starting their winter hats, which are to be ready for Thanksgiving, are putting out very dainty and attractive handkerchiefs and collars and cuffs which make useful and pleasing Christmas gifts. These are on display in Room 7 and students are invited to come down and examine them. The girls have also made guest towels and baby bibs with hand embroidered hems and ornamental darning.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of doing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

GOPHER GOOD ROADS AMENDMENT PASSED BY A BIG MAJORITY

Approval of Hundred Million Bond Issue is Record Achievement Among the States

FIVE OTHER STATES VOTE FUNDS FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENT

Minnesota to Establish Seven Thousand Mile State System

MADISON, Wis.—Advices received by Secretary Cannon of the Good Roads association of Wisconsin show that the $100,000,000 bond issue for highway improvement voted on by the people of Minnesota at the election on Tuesday, November 2nd, was carried by an overwhelming majority of three to one. The vote specifically taken was on a constitutional amendment empowering the legislature to vote bonds for highway construction.

This is the largest bond issue for road improvement attempted at any one time by a state, and the overwhelming victory indicates a tremendous good roads sentiment in Minnesota. The fact that the state is primarily an agricultural state makes the vote highly significant as showing the attitude of the farmers towards good roads. Illinois bonded for $60,000,000 and Michigan for $50,000,000 in 1919.

In addition to Minnesota, Virginia voted a $50,000,000 highway improvement good road bond issue, West Virginia $50,000,000, Missouri $60,000,000, Kansas $60,000,000 and Colorado, $50,000,000.

The bond issue in Minnesota is for the purpose of securing funds to build a 7000 mile state highway system. While the amount to be raised is not specifically stated under the bond issue, it is estimated that it will amount to $100,000,000. Under the Minnesota plan it is proposed to pay the interest on the bonds and to create a sinking fund for their retirement by increasing the automobile license fees so that they will average $18 per car per year. The present tax levy will be continued to build the lateral roads.

Under the bond issue plan seventy specified routes are created on which the funds are to be spent. The legislature is authorized to provide for the issue and sale of the bonds to finance the construction of the system provided that there shall not be any more than $10,000,000 of bonds issued in any one year and the total amount shall not exceed $100,000,000.

1000 Eggs in Every Hen
New System of Poultry Keeping—Get Dollar a Dozen Eggs—Famous Poultryman TELLS HOW

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of a hen was too short," says Henry Trafford, International Poultry Expert and Breeder for nearly eighteen years Editor of Poultry Success. The average pullet lays 130 eggs. I kept the second year, she may lay 100 more. Then she goes to market. Yet it has been scientifically established that every pullet is born or hatched with over one thousand minute "germs" in her system—and will lay them on a highly profitable basis over a period of four to six years' time if given proper care.

How to work to get 1,000 eggs from every hen; how to get pullets laying early; how to make the old hens lay like pullets; how to keep up heavy egg production all through cold winter months when eggs are highest; triple egg production; make slacker hens lusty; $5.00 profit from every hen in six winter months. These and many other money making poultry secrets are contained in Mr. Trafford's "1,000 EGG HEN" system of poultry raising, one copy of which will be sent absolutely free to any reader of this paper who keeps six hens or more. Eggs should go to a dealer or more a dozen this winter. This means big profit to the poultry keeper who gets the eggs. Mr. Trafford tells how. If you keep chickens and want them to make money for you cut out this ad and send it with your name and address to Henry Trafford, Suite 850-P, Tyne Bldg., Birmingham, N. Y. and a copy of "THE 1,000 EGG HEN" will be sent by return mail.

Why Andrae Selected The Thor

There are more than 75 different washing machines on the market. Almost all of these machines, we believe, have been offered to Julius Andrae & Sons Co. at one time or another. Because we are the oldest and largest wholesale distributors of electrical goods in the Middle West, manufacturers have sought to have us handle their goods. We selected the because we are convinced, after the most careful test and scrutiny, that the Thor combines more desirable features than any other washer.

The Thor is thoroughly good as a machine - that is to say, its technical design, materials and workmanship are the very best. Our engineers give it unqualified approval.

But the Thor is also a practical housewife's machine. It is among the oldest established. Over 500,000 have been made and sold. It is not only a simple machine and easy to operate, but it does the best work. Everything from greasy overalls to filmy lace is handled by the Thor thoroughly, safely, rapidly. Approximately 5,000 THOR WASHERS have been sold in this locality through Andrae dealers and all of them is giving satisfaction and saving money for their owners.

A DAY OF THE NATION

WE have few patriotic holidays in this country. Only occasionally are there breaks in our workaday routine to bring us out of our ordinary immersion in material things to a deliberate survey of the great principles and traditions which are at the foundation of our country. Americanism is innate in most of us, but we need to have it brought out into the field of our consciousness, to recognize and cultivate it more than we do. Could we be brought more often to view and assess the spiritual richness of America one doubts not that we should all be better Americans for it.

And what day so fitting as that which marks the anniversary of the day when our men in khaki and blue forced an insolent and tyrannical chemy to lay down his arms and confess defeat? It is an occasion that not only commemorates the might of the republic, but also serves to remind us of the devotion and sacrifice upon which that might is built. It speaks to us of liberty, and of its price, emphasizing the value of freedom and warning us that the privileges of freedom must be jealously guarded. Armistice Day is eloquent not only of the opportunities of American citizenship but of its obligations.

Spring has its Memorial Day, when we re-consecrate the memory of our fallen warriors. Summer has its Independence Day, when we recall the courage of the men who established our claim to liberty. Winter brings the birthday of a great exemplar of Americanism who established and shaped the history and tradition of the nation. Armistice Day as a day of national observance would combine in itself reminders of American heroism, of American will to freedom and of personal loyalty and service to the principles of the republic, as well as of a period when, as never before, America was united in a brotherhood of high purpose.

La Crosse has done well in setting aside this day of its own motion as a patriotic holiday. We trust that before another year has passed November 11 will be officially set aside for national observance forever.

LABOR'S STRUGGLE

UNEMPLOYMENT makes a "lean and hungry Cassius", a dangerous character. Big business' thrust to strike down organized labor is a timely blow. It takes account of what men will do when pressed for food and lodging. That unemployment is in part a manufactured condition adds or subtracts nothing from the fortunes of war. The solemn fact is that, like automobiles, labor is passing from a buyers' market to a sellers' market. The entire force of organized labor should be devoted to holding itself together until the crisis is past. The institution of labor is like a ship in a gale. It must hold to its course, or crash upon the rocks. In such an emergency labor must consider well its compass. It must take stock of its real friends, not to lose them. It must play the game square to its opponents, for that which will survive all else is honesty. This is no time for hair-splitting over parlor socialism.

IN OTHERS' EYES

BRITISH writers in numbers have been looking at this country over and recording their impressions of Americans. Now comes a Frenchman, Louis Thomas, who writes for the Paris weekly, L'Opinion.

A poet had it right about the desirability of a people seeing themselves as they appear to others. So, even though one does not agree with all that's said by these travelers, there is no lack of interest in their comments.

"American wastefulness is a stupefying thing to Frenchmen," says Thomas.

"We are thrifty, and even, we must admit, avaricious. Our experts, who co-operated with them in war enterprises, found them abominably wasteful, indifferent to costs, and improvident to the last degree."

The reason is simple, says Thomas. "Americans are gamblers!"

"They do not want to make a moderate profit, a steady, regular, perhaps mediocre income, but on the contrary, to make a great deal of money in a very short time, to 'get rich quick.'"

"They gamble at business—not at roulette or baccarat; but it is gambling all the same."

As for wastefulness:

"So many people there have made their money by chance, by good luck, by a flash of imagination, and not by the sweat of their brow, that they are naturally wasteful and spendthrift to an extent which we can hardly imagine in Europe."

"Everyone wastes, even the poor, and particularly the women, who, for the most part, do not seem to have time to acquire the habits of economical housekeeping possessed by the women of the Old World."

BRISBANE'S HOPES

ONE of the most astoundingly un-American comments which have followed the election of Harding was made by Arthur Brisbane in this imperialistic manner:

"Will Harding extend the territory of the United States south as far as the other side of the Panama Canal, thus conferring a great blessing on every square foot of Mexico?"

Brisbane, chief editorial writer for Hearst, bitterly opposed the league of nations during the recent campaign. So did Hearst. Hearst, at one time was, and probably now is, owner of Mexican lands. These will be made more profitable, and of greater value, by annexation of Mexico.

The league of nations would prevent American annexation of even one foot of Mexican or any other soil.

"What a wonderful opportunity," exclaims Brisbane, "for a man (meaning President-elect Harding) who has the richest country in the world and one hundred and five millions of peoples to work with."

It is to be hoped—most sincerely—that Harding does not believe with the Hearst-Brisbane annexationists that the wealth and millions of peoples of the United States may be used as tools in this "wonderful opportunity" to crush and rob a sister republic. Americans have no desire to make a conquest of Mexico—not even to increase the wealth of William Randolph Hearst.

It is to be regretted that Americans did not learn until after the election why it was that Hearst and Brisbane were so vociferous in their opposition to the league of nations. Their confession of Mexican dreams of imperialism tells why they stood where they did.

Reports that star ball players burst into tears at the news of the impending baseball war are probably untrue. It's been a long closed season on the club owners' bank rolls.

One thing about the new baseball league—it doesn't have to hurdle a senate to get started.

Carnegie left $23,000,000; mighty few want to die that poor.

IN SPITE OF THE FORTUNE TELLER

BY H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

When Betty Peyton consented to play the fortune teller at Mrs. Esmond-Ashley's annual garden fete she did so under the supposition that it would be an easy way of passing the time at an affair where she knew nobody and would, in a way, be a means of doing her hostess a favor in return for the recent great kindness done her.

As she regarded herself in the mirror after an hour's application of all she had learned in the amateur theatricals which had served to pass so many hours of the summers spent in the hills at Simla, she assured herself that her dearest friend would never recognize her. And it would have indeed been difficult to detect beneath the burnished, gaudy turban and oriental draperies of the image which confronted her the Anglo-Saxon fairness and winsome charm of Betty Peyton.

"You're simply perfect, my dear!" Mrs. Esmond-Ashley's voice was all admiration. "Your booth is down by the rhododendrons—and remember you are supposed to be the real article. After advertising that unreliable Hindu woman as my leading card, I simply dare not go back on it. Incidentally, I honestly think you look more genuine than she does!"

During the early part of the evening, custom was very brisk and Betty had her hands full, literally and figuratively, with palms, both masculine and feminine, demanding to be read. Then, as the liquid notes of the Hawaiian quartet floated out on the lantern-illuminated air, the guests drifted away to listen, and Betty was left alone, resting a dusky hand and gazing pensively out into the sweet-scented night as one who peers into a future too dim to decipher.

She was wondering why it was that she and Paul Brighton could not have met naturally without being thrown at each other's heads since childhood. Gossip, the length and breadth of India, she told herself bitterly, had copied their names together until no doubt he felt the aversion to her that she did to him. And all because their fathers, closely associated for years, had made so evident their wish to see their children wed one another.

It was when she learned that Paul, now Captain Brighton, was to be transferred to the same post as her father, that Betty made up her mind to run away, and writing to her aunt in America, whom she had never seen, opened the opportunity for the invitation to spend the summer at the latter's country home.

Suddenly, breaking in upon her meditations, a tall figure advanced through the shrubbery and, throwing himself down on the cushions before her, silently held out his hand. As he did so, the swaying lantern above her shown on his lifted face. Thunder-struck, she nearly uttered a cry, then, with great effort checked herself. It was Paul.

What was he doing here? Would he recognize her? No, that was absurd, and presumably her aunt would not disclose her identity, at least until after the festival. These thoughts flashed through her mind as she bent above his palm.

Then she had an inspiration. Of all the people she knew, Capt. Brighton, after his years in India, might have some faith in the occult.

"Slowly she began, in hesitating broken patois. 'The sahib—lie said from Kurnachi? Yes I see it here. Also he must beware ver' light lady; must be careful. Light ladies ver' bad for this sahib—bring bad luck, bad fortune, sickness, death, oh, everything. Much better think on dark ladies—ver' dark.'"

She hoped that in the semi-darkness he did not observe her sudden pause as she recalled the fact that her hostess's daughter Joan was of exceeding darkness and Mrs. Esmond-Ashley might naturally not wish to be considered as making a bid for attention to her daughter through the medium of a fortune teller at her own garden party.

But her patron merely gave a grave "Thank you," and, rising, went his way, leaving Betty wondering how much faith he had in her abilities as a soothsayer.

That night Mrs. Esmond-Ashley congratulated Betty. "You were a tremendous hit—and everybody believed you real. Why, Capt. Paul Brighton, just arrived from India on a mission in which my husband is concerned, says he has seen lunatics like you sitting on the road to Delhi. Incidentally, he's coming to tea tomorrow, and between you and me, I believe he's a bit gone on Joan!"

The following afternoon Betty, in her own character, met quite informally the man between whom and herself she had endeavored to put several continents. They had shaken hands quite casually, while he remarked with calmness that he had known her for many years. Then he had turned to Joan and asked if she played tennis.

The next month for Betty was much like this game which followed, in which she was quite out of it all, watching the maneuvers of Paul and Joan from the sidelines. And little by little she began to regret, first, her impulsive departure, then her prophetic utterances, which apparently he had taken so seriously. For, no doubt, he knew she had gone to avoid his presence at the post and was reveling in his chance to demonstrate how little her repulses troubled him.

Then an odd thing occurred. In Joan's presence Paul invited her to go with him on a yachting party, and although surprised at herself, Betty heard herself accepting. On the evening of the trip she found Paul had drawn two chairs close together in a secluded corner of the stern deck. For awhile they sat watching the play of moonlight on the scudding foam of the wake. Then, out of a clear sky, Paul turned to her and said:

RATTLING GHOST IN HIDDEN SARDINE CAN

BY ELIZABETH STEELE
(This Day of Story, "The Shade of Hannah Applegate")

"We crawled into bed. Not a word was said about ghosts. In a few minutes the Owl came around with her 'Quiet, girls' and then everything was still for five minutes. I was terribly sleepy and had to chew a camphorated handkerchief to keep me awake."

"Annie Laurie Weld was always the last one in our tent to go to sleep, so when I heard her beginning to snore I looked at my radiote and it was 10:10. I pulled the string under my pillow. The stones in the sardine can rattled, but no one stirred. I jabbed Bab in the ribs with my elbow and gave the string another jerk. She jumped up in bed."

"Beth, Beth, what's that?" she said hoarsely.

"What?" I yawned as though I'd been asleep for ages. I gave the string another pull and the noise was uncanny—that wasn't supposed to be a pun.

"That—hear it?" she whispered.

"No, I don't hear anything," I replied crossly. "Why can't you go to sleep?"

"I kept pulling the string at intervals until 10:45, when I went to sleep. I guess Bab and Babe did too, after a while."

"Next morning Bab and Babe lost no time in spreading the story. Of course no one else knew anything about it."

"Yes, sir, I heard her tell Miss Spurgeon. It sounded exactly like a chain being drawn across the floor or bones being rattled."

"Nothing exciting would have happened if I hadn't done a mental somersault of joy when she said 'bones'. At once I thought of the suit my brother Jack had when he played the part of a skeleton in a doctor's office in a comedy at college last fall. The skeleton part was painted on a tight black suit with some kind of stuff that glowed like phosphorus in the dark. It was an awful thing to meet unexpectedly."

"Next time I met Bab I whispered to her, 'Bab, I'll bet you heard the ghost of old Ezekiah Applegate!'"

OLD LADY RIDDLE

Who may marry many a wife and yet live single all his life?
(Answer to yesterday's: "Where was Adam going when he was in his thirtieth year?"—Into his fortieth.)

"You see, Betty, I took your advice about dark ladies!"

So he had known, after all—probably through her aunt!

"Well, I'm sure you found it good!" she managed to answer lightly. "But how did you know it was I?"

"Very easily," returned the man. "Once having seen you in a similar character at an amateur performance at Simla, I could not very well forget your skillful portrayal. Besides, having come several thousand miles in search of you, I was looking for you everywhere, although, feeling myself, as I know you did, that there had been enough outside management in our affairs, I was determined to tell no one my errand."

"But Joan—and your mission?" stammered Betty.

"Joan understands the whole thing and was helping me out—besides, she's engaged, herself!" retorted Paul. "As for the mission, that was a lucky coincidence, I'll admit, but, knowing it was to be sent here, I pulled the wires and got myself appointed."

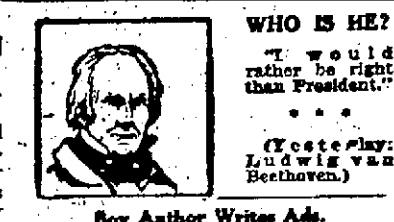

There was a moment's silence. Then Paul leaned over and helped himself to the slim hand lying so temptingly near his own. "Aren't you afraid of the fate I foretold?" asked Betty, whimsically, but not withdrawing her hand.

"If I am," declared Paul, "I'd rather endure it with you, my darling, than have all the luck in the world without you!" and won for his brave reply the reward it merited.

"Because" in an Outline
The word "because" is the test word for finding out whether your debate or theme outline is logical and well done.

Outlines like the above are common but imperfect. There is no test to find out whether or not they are logical.

Make each head or subhead in the form of a short sentence containing a definite assertion. Then if you can insert the word "because" in between each head and its subheads the outline is a good one.

- 1. Compulsory High School Attendance.

ROOMS ARE NEEDED FOR GRAIN SHOW

Hospitality of La Crosse to Be Stretched for Big Event in January

A town is known by its hospitality. In entertaining the corn and grain show nearly every one who feels kindly towards those who visit the city will be able to do something. The home makers and home keepers of the town can show their spirit of fellowship best by agreeing to rent spare rooms to the visitors during the week of January 24, and especially on the 26th, 27th and 28th. In a day or two they will be asked to designate how many rooms will be available in their homes for this purpose. Later on a more complete list of the sort of guests they could entertain, which is bound to vary in some cases, will be made, together with such other information as may add to the convenience of those who offer their rooms as well as the guests who will occupy them.

As is usual in matters of entertainment, a great deal depends upon the womenfolk. All the good times in the world hardly make up for discomfort when it comes to a night's rest. No one would be so reckless as to express an opinion that the women of La Crosse would fail in generosity at a time like this when the city is to be advertised to the entire state and in a measure to the entire nation.

SERVICE STANDARD ESTABLISHED FOR WATER UTILITIES

New Rules Issued During the Week by State Railroad Commission

WATER MUST CONFORM TO HEALTH BOARD STANDARD

Provides for Protection of Supply from Pollution

MADISON, Wis. — The Railroad Commission, by an order issued this week has established standards of adequate service for the water utilities of the state. The work was done under the provision of the statute (Section 1797m-23) and required as a preliminary the holding of a public hearing by the Commission. To have a basis for consideration at the hearing, the Commission published with the notice of investigation and hearing a set of tentative rules. As the Legislature of 1919 placed the supervision of the quality of water supply, as well as sewage disposal, under the jurisdiction of the State Board of Health, the Commission limited the scope of the rules or standards determined upon to those features of water services not under the supervision of the health board. The rules and standards adopted are:

(1) The quality of the water furnished by a utility must comply with the requirements of the State Board of Health.

(2) Public water supplies must be adequately protected from pollution from any source.

(3) and (4) Dead end of mains and all parts of the distribution system must be flushed at sufficiently frequent periods. Full records of flushings showing date, location, and duration must be maintained.

(5) Records of complaints by consumers relative to any feature of the service must be kept, together with that of the disposition of each complaint.

(6) Every water utility shall at all times maintain in all parts of its distribution system pipe of ample capacity and sufficient pressure to meet the reasonable requirements of consumers.

(7) Every water utility in cities of more than 2000 population shall maintain in service at least one correct and accurate pressure recording gauge pipe connected independently to some part of its distribution system whereby graphic records of the pressure in such part of the system continuous for 24 hours shall be automatically made. These records must show time and date of beginning and ending and must be preserved for at least three years.

(8) Every water utility furnishing fire protection, unless exempted by the Commission, must maintain the normal pressure (as far as to form fire streams direct from the hydrants).

(9) Pumping records must be kept, and station meters are recommended as more reliable than pump stroke or revolution counter for determining pumpage.

(10) Every meter installed must be tested for accuracy of registration. A table is furnished showing the limits of allowable error.

(11) The accuracy of all meters in service must be insured by frequent and periodic tests. These tests should include always a test on a small and definite rate of flow within the range for which the allowable error is 2 per cent.

(12) By depositing one dollar for each inch of nominal size of meter to be returned to him should the meter show his meter to be exceeding the 2 percent allowable error, and to be tested to the limit of the meter, the meter is not exceeding the 2 percent allowable error the consumer can have his meter tested. Every consumer is entitled to have his meter tested, and in his presence, should he desire that.

(13) Any water consumer may have his meter tested by the Commission by making a deposit of two dollars per inch of nominal size of meter. The utility must return the two dollars if the Commission finds the meter to be over-registering beyond the allowable limit.

(14) Permanent meter records, including all detail, must be kept by the utility.

(15) Every utility furnishing water service must keep suitable equipment or apparatus for testing and recording meters, and such must be accessible to the Commission at all times.

(16) Portable test meters must be

Hazel Sexton and Donald Foster, in a scene from the famous New York and Chicago comedy success, "Three Wise Fools," which comes to the La Crosse Theater on Thursday night, November 15, with the original cast and production.

Frequently calibrated to insure their accuracy.

(17) Bills rendered must show meter readings and dates. Every utility must keep accurate construction records. For all construction work done after Jan. 1, 1920, these records must show date of construction by year and month.

WINONA ELECTRIC RATES INCREASED

Ordinance Passed by Common Council Authorizes Utility to Raise the Schedule

An ordinance authorizing new rates to be charged for light and power to all Winona consumers was passed by the Winona city council at a special session following the request of the Wisconsin Railway Light and Power company for an amendment to its present franchise to permit it to increase its charges. The council reserves the right to repeal the new ordinance at any time it sees fit to do so.

Under the new arrangement, the company is given authorization to charge one cent per kilowatt hour in addition to the rates authorized by the franchise, subject to a discount of one cent per kilowatt hour on the first one hundred kilowatt hours and one cent on all in excess thereof when paid within ten days after billing date. This amounts to a five per cent net increase over the rates now in effect, but it also increases the discount rate from five per cent to almost eight per cent. It permits the company to charge a net rate of 12 cents as under the old franchise and no more.

In the past the company has been charging the twelve cent maximum with a five per cent discount making the net rate 11.5 cents per kilowatt hour. When the new ordinance goes into effect it will be permitted to charge a net rate of 12—13c gross less 1c discount—a difference per kilowatt hour from the present rate of 11.5c to 12c.

According to Manager R. M. Howard the average resident consumer of light uses about 20 kilowatts per month and the increase authorized would average about 12c on a monthly bill.

NORMALITES LEAVE TODAY FOR BATTLE WITH OSHKOSH TEAM

Southern Championship Hangs in Balance in Clash at Oshkosh Friday

TWO ALABAMA STARS PLAYING ON OSHKOSH TEAM THIS YEAR

Easterners Have Clean Slate; Defeat Ripon College 6 to 0

Kohl's buskies left this noon at 12:30 for Oshkosh where they will meet the normal team of that city for the championship of the southern section tomorrow afternoon. The team and gray aggregation showed lots of pep in practice this week, and are going to Oshkosh determined to settle the question of who is to be the title holder in this section.

The winner of tomorrow's game will meet the winner of the Stevens Point-River Falls game to decide the National Conference championship of the state. Stevens Point and River Falls have already played a 0-0 game and are to meet again tomorrow at Chippewa Falls, on neutral grounds to decide the championship of the northern section.

Football is going big at Oshkosh this year, and all the talk among the sport followers in the town centers on the chances of defeating La Crosse. Coach Dillon, a newcomer to Oshkosh brought two stars from Alabama with him when he came to the Sawdust City. Besides these two, he has eight regulars of last year's squad on his team. The only really new man on the team is McAndrews, who has played a stellar game so far.

Have Clean Slate

Oshkosh has not lost a Normal Conference game this year, and have the record of beating the strong Ripon College team 6-0. At that, La Crosse has then beat three ways by the comparative scores route. Oshkosh played a 0-0 tie with Mattoonville, while La Crosse beat them 41-0; they defeated Whitewater 21 to 0, and La Crosse piled up a score of 55-0, on the same team and last, Oshkosh was only able to run a score of 10-0 on Milwaukee while La Crosse came home with a 33-7 victory.

The Oshkosh-La Crosse game was played in this city last year, the locals easily beating their opponents by a score of 18-7. Oshkosh's only score came in the fourth quarter after two long forward passes.

WORLD'S SKATING MARCH SCHEDULED FOR JANUARY 1ST

NEW YORK.—The national outdoor speed skating championship will be held at Newburgh, N. Y., under the auspices of the Newburgh Skating association January 1, 1921, skaters from this and other countries competing. It was announced Wednesday. The national championships were last held in Newburgh a quarter of a century ago, when Joseph P. Donahue, native of Newburgh and still holder of all records from 25 to 100 miles, defended his title against the world.

The Regals were triumphant in three successive games over the La Crosse Club 60's at the Lotus alleys Wednesday night. In the third game the Regals bowled for a total of 1010 plus, Schneebarger making an individual total of 238, while Spoonick scored high total in the three games, 506.

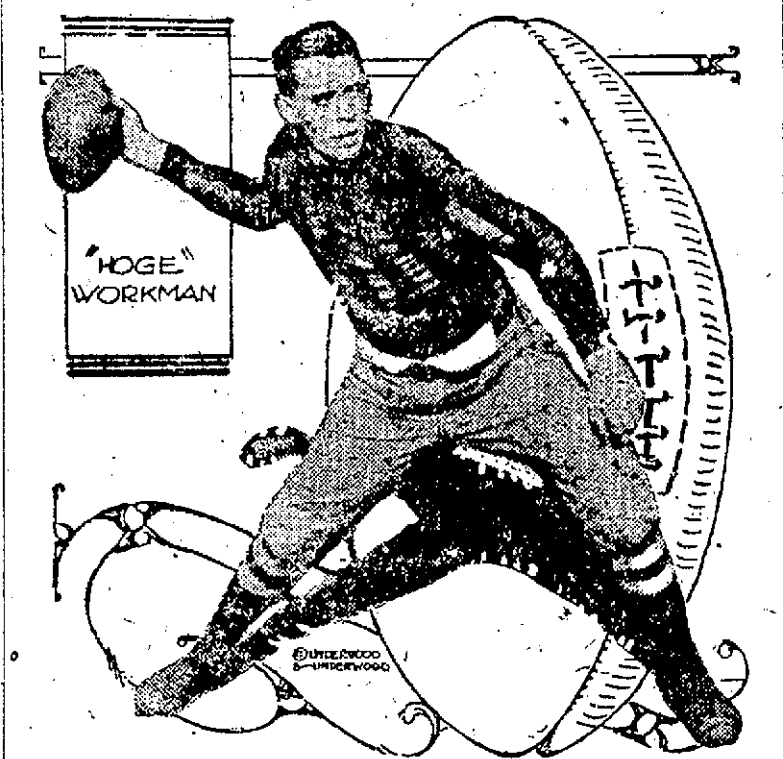

Larson was largely responsible for the Longley Hats, winning the third and only game from the Hotel La Crosse team when he totaled 255 runs. Miller of the La Crosse Hotelers, bowled the three games, making a total of 200 or better in each. He made 620 in the three games. Larson was high man for the Longley Hats, rolling 552.

BRINGING UP FATHER

"HOGE" WORKMAN IS SEASON'S BEST PASSER

Here's "Hoge" Workman who has been pulling Ohio State's games out of the fire for them this season by his wonderful forward passes. Some of his shoots tape a little over forty-five yards.

IN THE SPORT MIRROR

They aren't confident—except that they just naturally have the game sewed up. Here are a few remarks from the Oshkosh side lines which should be valuable information to those desiring to place money on the game. The following letter postmarked Oshkosh was received by the writer: "Oshkosh has Super Team. The Oshkosh eleven to become champions of the southern section Friday. On Friday Nov. 12 the La Crosse eleven and the Oshkosh eleven meet for the decision of the southern title. They are both strong teams and a great game will be exhibited by both squads. La Crosse seems very confident of her victory after winning from Milwaukee. Oshkosh will appear with no confidence except that of hard fight and defeat for the lucky La Crosse eleven. La Crosse defeated Oshkosh last year by near luck this year the table is to be turned and Oshkosh will come out ahead. Their has been a great many plans set for the day of the Oshkosh victory. This being the one big day of the year when the I. A. S. gives their dance to the victorious eleven and the defeated La Crosse eleven and their delegates."

Well boys, don't forget the dance anyway.

Put the numbers back. How are you going to tell a horse without a score card, or a football player if he isn't tagged? Answer—It isn't being done this year. Football coaches are shooting up the wrong alley when they decline to put numbers on the players so the spectators can tell who's who and what's what. About the only men you can pick out are the quarterbacks, and you couldn't identify them unless they were rattling the numbers. Coaches this year got together and decided that it was hum to put numbers on the boys from a strategic standpoint. They argued that the enemy could pick out the stars and knock 'em for a row of goals—not the kind that count on the grid. But the public is howling something awful. It can't tell who's carrying the ball or anything. Sense of direction is about all the onlookers can be sure of. In the recent Illinois-Michigan game even the newspapers credited the wrong Illinois player with making the winning touchdown. Football is dependent upon the public making the winning touchdown. Football is dependent upon the public for support and Coaches are spoiling things by the use of the "blank" system.

BASEBALL PEACE CONFERENCE MOVES TO CHICAGO FRIDAY

Impression Prevails that Landis' Appointment Will be Ratified at Chicago

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Celebration of Armistice day today finds the rival major league club owners resting on their arms preparatory to the peace conference of the sixteen club owners in Chicago tomorrow. The major leaguers, who obtained the aid of the National Association of Minor Leagues in settling the threatened war, will move to Chicago tomorrow.

President Ban Johnson and his "fifteen" club owners left last night for a final conference on the battle ground before the meeting. August Herrmann, owner of the Cincinnati Nationals, and several other so-called league officials also so as to be on the scene early and lay their plans. Charles Ebbetts of the Brooklyn Nationals and others remained over here today for important conferences.

The impression prevailed in baseball circles today that Federal Judge Landis of Chicago, who has been selected as chairman of the new board of control at a salary of $50,000 a year, will be unanimously agreed upon and his appointment ratified by the "loyal five" American league club owners after the peace meeting tomorrow.

Landis is Popular

Judge Landis' name is heard on every hand among baseball men. It is pointed out that Judge Landis knows baseball and not only from the standpoint of the fan either. It was before him that the court fight of the old Federal league against organized baseball was held.

Selection of the committee to be appointed today by the minor leagues to help reorganize baseball was the chief business before the minor league convention.

The minor leaguers voted for a committee of six with President M. H. Sexton as chairman to confer with committees of like numbers to be named by the National and American leagues.

MIKE O'DOWD HANDS JEFF SMITH ROUGH 15 ROUND BEATING

Fight Marks First Appearance of O'Dowd in New York Since His Defeat by Wilson

NEW YORK.—Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul, the darling of the gallery Gals, made his New York comeback last night, battering Jeff Smith of Bayonne, N. J. through most of the fifteen rounds of their fight at Madison Square garden. It was O'Dowd's first fight here since he lost his championship to Johnny Wilson, and he got a greeting like the one Fifth avenue gave Pershing.

It was a rough, tough battle. Smith came out of it with two black eyes and O'Dowd had a mean gash over his right eye. When it was over one judge awarded the fight to O'Dowd and the other called it a draw, requiring Johnny Hunkop, the referee, to cast the deciding vote, which gave O'Dowd a victory.

How the one judge could have seen a draw in this fight was something that Madison Square garden, jammed to the rafters with fight fans, couldn't understand. O'Dowd plastered Smith in every round except the fourth and fifth.

The Badgers took two out of three from the Doks, with Langenbach as high total man for the Badgers and Metcalf, with 481 for the Doks.

ILLINOIS PRIMED FOR INVASION OF WISCONSIN CAMP

Zuppke's Men Emerge from Final Scrimmage Wednesday in Prime Condition

URBANA, Ill.—Capt. Depler and his fighting Illinois are ready for the invasion of the Badger stronghold. Wednesday Zuppke scrimmaged his men for the last time and they emerged in prime condition. There will be no scrimmage in tomorrow's workout, and the squad will depart on the early evening train for Chicago where they will spend the night, taking a Friday forenoon train for Madison.

Stand Pat on Lineup

Twenty-five players will be taken. The same eleven which went against Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota and Chicago will start against the Badgers. Again there was plenty of pep and drive in the performances of the Illinois and there was no need for Zuppke to do much spurring. Unless appearances are deceitful the Indians are grimly determined to wrest victory from the Badgers and get into the final conference game with a clean escutcheon.

Strong Reserves Ready

Zuppke continued to pay attention to Wilson, the reserve tackle, whose playing has been a feature of the week. Middleton and Hughes were other reserve forwards groomed for emergencies, while Bill Kopp, Chris Larimer, Sabo, Gee, and other sub backs were thoroughly drilled to meet Wisconsin tactics. Linden and Moe-pel will understudy the ends.

The Screen

AT THE THEATERS TODAY

Rivoli—Anita Stewart in "Harriet and the Piper."
Majestic—Why Change Your Wife?
Casino—Tom Moore in "Stop Thief."
Strand—Ethel Clayton in "The Ladder of Lies."
Bijou—Julian Eltinge in "The Adventures."

Observation of the laws and fundamental conventions of society, while considered by those who lead the Bohemian life to be a useless code of laws, only by the unenlightened, is nevertheless the only cause to pursue if one wants to attain real happiness. That is the moral forcefully emphasized by Anita Stewart in "Harriet and the Piper," now showing at the Rivoli theater.

In the role of Harriet Field, a girl from a small town who is dazzled by the "advanced thought" theories followed and the Bohemian life led by the natives of New York's famous Greenwich Village, Anita Stewart goes through a free love ceremony with a handsome young villager, Royal Blon-din.

The emptiness of the lawless ceremony is realized by Harriet when at her studio apartment she receives a package from her sister containing a letter telling of her sister's marriage and explaining that the illness which she had from the fever in which the wedding was held.

How Harriet is saved from her loveless marriage, just in time, finds real happiness in a different environment and realizes how false are the ideals of the professional villagers is unfolded on the screen in what many declared to be the most fascinating of Anita Stewart's first National photo-plays.

Ward Crane, as Royal Blon-din, and Charles Richmond, as Richard Carter, play opposite Miss Stewart.

Lloyd Hamilton in his latest comedy, "Duck In," is exceptionally funny and causes no end of enjoyment to both old and young. "Topics of the Day" are also entertaining.

When Cecil B. DeMille produced that excellent photoplay, "Don't Change Your Husband," some time ago, it scored immensely because it presented in a charming manner a subject of intense interest to married folk. Now he followed it with a sort of companion picture which presents the other side of the question treated in the story mentioned, namely, "Why Change Your Wife?" at the Majestic theater with enormous success yesterday.

Mr. DeMille has risen to great heights in his depiction of the wife who in her overwhelming love for her husband tires him to the degree that he finds solace in the companionship of a pretty divorcee. "The wife who loves to make a playmate of her husband, and who has changed remarkably since their marriage ten years previously, obtains a divorce and he marries the other woman. It then develops that his second wife grows to be the very opposite to what she was when he married her, and trouble ensues.

Mr. DeMille has done excellent work in this photoplay, the roles of which are interpreted by highly competent players such as Thomas Meighan, who will be remembered for his delightful portrayal in "The Miracle Man," "Civilian Clothes" and "The Prince Chap." Gloria Swanson, who was leading woman opposite Mr. Meighan in "Male and Female" has the leading feminine role, while Edo Gribble is the other woman. The cast throughout is exceptionally rich. The picture proved a delight to the large audiences that witnessed the presentation.

A dual attraction greets the patrons of the Riviera on Armistice Day, Tom Moore in "The Son of Tarzan" and "Stop Thief," the second episode. "Stop Thief" is an adaptation from the stage play of the same name. Mr. Moore as the crook Dugan, has one of the best roles of his career, and he causes much laughter with his actions and sayings.

Those who have seen the first episode of "The Son of Tarzan" will of course want to see the second and those that haven't seen it will have a chance to see a brief synopsis at the beginning of the second. It is one of the best serials ever published, written by Edgar Rice Burroughs, and made under his personal supervision. It has a realism that is not found in the majority of serials.

Good motion pictures can be made without luxurious costumes and exotic settings, provided a star with the charm and talent of Ethel Clayton plays the leading role. This has been demonstrated in Miss Clayton's last few releases, but never more pleasantly than in "The Ladder of Lies" in which she opened an engagement at the Bijou theater last evening.

The picture is the old story of woman's sacrifice for a man, but done with a brand new twist. In this cast, the heroine doesn't love the man for whom she is risking her good name, but is just his good friend, anxious to shield from him the fact that the woman he marries is unfaithful. When her own honor is impugned, as the result, in the eyes of the man she really loves, the heroine is silent, until the way is unexpectedly open to her happiness.

Miss Clayton was never more attractive than in "The Ladder of Lies." She is one pretty star who can act. Her support is likewise excellent, including favorites as Charles Meredith, Irving Cummings, Japs Acker and Clyde Fillmore.

"Teddy at the Throttle," a "Triangle" comedy, and a magazine complete the program. Obrecht Sisters orchestra have arranged an unusually good musical program in keeping with the pictures.

CASINO
 Corinne Griffith in "The Garter Girl" which opened yesterday at the Casino is a pleasing little picture and was thoroughly enjoyed by the crowd that packed this popular little theater.

"The Garter Girl" is a story of contrast, a tale of the stage and the country. It gives Corinne Griffith an unusual opportunity to do some very clever acting. Among other things she performs some difficult dance steps, does an aerial ballet and illustrates several winter sports. Her interpretation of Rosaline Kay is one of her best efforts. Earl Metcalfe, Rod La Rocque and Salilo Crute are in the supporting cast.

THREE WISE FOOLS
 Claude Gillingwater, the lovable old grouch in "Three Wise Fools," coming here soon, hails from the little town of Louisiana, Missouri. Five county has given to literature, politics and the drama, three conspicuous representatives—Mark Twain, Champ Clark and Claude Gillingwater.

Harry Davenport, who plays the doctor in John Golden's noted comedy, comes of an old theatrical family—the famous Davenport, known both in England and America. His father was the noted tragedian, E. L. Davenport, and his sister, Fanny, had a "world-wide reputation."

Howard Gould, who so ably plays one of the old bachelors, started his stage career as a call boy at the old Boston Museum. Later he was engaged for "bits" at the magnificent salary of $2 per week. In those days, however, $2 was $2.

Austin Strong, author of "Three Wise Fools" and a number of other successes, is a relative of Robert Louis Stevenson, and for a number of years lived with the great novelist at Valhalla, Samoa. He is mentioned in a number of the R. L. S. letters.

The role of the judge in this play was founded on ex-Ambassador Chaote Strong. Herbert Saunders, a member of the cast, is an ex-president and commander of the United Spanish War Veterans.

Out of It
 The Governments which are not members of the League of Nations are China, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Turkey, Russia, Mexico and the United States.

There are 66 rural schools in La Crosse county with a net enrollment last year of 1360 pupils. The average attendance in more than half of these schools was less than three-fourths of the net enrollment. This means that there is a loss to the taxpayer of more than one fourth of all the money spent for schools in these districts. The educational loss can not be computed, but when we consider the school year in most districts eight months instead of nine, as it is in the city schools, it is evident that the county child is not getting a square deal.

Attend the Good School week meeting in your district and discuss means of remedying this situation.

GIVES "PENNILESS" WOMAN HOME; TWO FORTUNES ARE LEFT TO IOWA RESIDENT

SPENCER, Iowa.—Friends of Mrs. Maude E. Perry of Long Beach, Cal., have received word from her of a peculiar experience which was hers while in Los Angeles. While Mrs. Perry waited in a Los Angeles station one day, she noticed in the seat beside her an old lady, upon whose shabby hat there was pinned a dollar bill and beneath it a slip of paper with this inscription: "This is my last dollar; who will give me a home?" Mrs. Perry was moved to offer her own home to her and for eight months the two lived together in the Perry home. One day the old lady left the home very hurriedly and did not even bid her benefactor goodbye and for four years, nothing more was seen or heard of her. A short time ago, Mrs. Perry received a letter from a lawyer in a small town in Kansas informing her that she had been left a legacy of $20,000 by a Mrs. Sarah Russell, the old lady whom she had befriended.

This turn of the wheel seemingly did not satisfy Dame Fortune, for Mrs. Perry soon after heard that an old-time sweetheart from whom she had become estranged, had died and left her $150,000, and on her way to claim this legacy, she stopped off in this town, Spencer, to visit friends and the facts of her doubly good luck were known.

GUERNSEY BREEDERS OF MONROE Praised BY STATE LEADER

TOMAH, Wis.—Andrew W. Hopkins, secretary Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association in a recent letter to Tracy Humphrey, secretary Monroe County Guernsey Breeders' association, congratulates the county stockmen on their leadership in growing pure bred stock, in the following words:

"From the day of our first visit to your county up to the present time we have held Monroe county and its livestock in high regard. Your Holsteins have attracted deserved attention at our state fair and similarly your Guernseys and Jerseys are building up a reputation which promises big things for your county in the future."

"On your 3,333 farms there are 1,330 siles, which is three hundred more than there were one year ago. Your milk cows have increased by 2,600 in the same time, and now number 33,500. The three cow testing association of the county are also adding very materially in boosting better livestock."

"Monroe county also sent a representation of young people to the Junior Livestock Exposition at Madison in October. This is only another gratifying example of the county's appreciation of the best means of verifying her reputation as a breeding center."

OPENING OF NEW REFORMATORY FOR WOMEN IS DELAYED

MADISON, Wis.—The women's reformatory at Taycheedah, Fond du Lac county, will not be ready for occupancy before next spring in the opinion of M. J. Tappins, secretary of the state board of control.

"The work of putting in the heating plant, the wiring of the buildings, the completion of the sewage system and the building of the roads are being pushed," said Mr. Tappins Thursday. "The best that can be done will be to have the building ready for occupancy early in the spring. There have been some delays in construction, but the outlook now is that completion is within sight."

MOONSHINE GOOD FOR AUTO RADIATOR SAYS OFFICIAL

Moonshine whiskey serves a useful and legitimate purpose after it comes into the hands of the prohibition commissioner of Wisconsin, B. C. Parkinson, deputy commissioner explained. He says that according to present plans moonshine whiskey will keep a number of state automobiles running this winter.

"It all results from the fact that whiskey contains alcohol. With a realization of this fact, the commissioner fell upon the idea of using it in the radiator of automobiles as a non-freezable compound."

The alcohol is denatured by a simple chemical process so that any thought of using it as a beverage will be done away with. It then is ready for use in the radiator.

Irrigation in the form of bailing water on to the fields was in use in earliest times and is still employed in remote parts of India.

QUARRY REMOVED FROM STATE PARK AT DEVIL'S LAKE

MADISON, Wis.—After 15 years of effort on the part of the state, negotiations were completed to take the American Refractories company, operating the quarry in the state park at Devil's Lake, out of the park limits. The company is to remove its operations on or before January 1, 1922. It will conduct its quarrying thereafter on what has been known as the Goldman property, completely outside of the park limits. The state paid the company $75,000 for its 65 acres of property at Devil's Lake. All buildings and improvements go to the state. In addition to the cash payment, 57 acres outside the park limits is conveyed to the company.

EVANSTON WOMAN GOES TO HER DEATH IN LAKE MICHIGAN

CHICAGO, Ill.—Mrs. Clarence W. Russell, widow of the former University of Chicago football star, who disappeared from her home in Evanston Monday, realized her greatest wish—that her son, Bryan, would always remember her as a beautiful woman, unchanged by illness and despondency. Her body was taken from Lake Michigan Wednesday morning.

Two years ago her husband died, followed by the death of her mother last summer. According to relatives, Mrs. Russell grieved continually. She placed her son in the home of her brother, John G. Singleton, of Evanston. The boy is eight years old. Mrs. Russell watched him as he left school Monday. Then she walked to the lake and disappeared.

And no one could tell the difference!

This test of direct comparison was made by Anna Case, world-famous soprano, before 2500 people, at Carnegie Hall, New York City, on March 10, 1920. See the three diagram sketches below:

First—Miss Case stood beside the New Edison and sang.
Suddenly—the lights went out, but Miss Case's voice went smoothly on.
Then—the lights went on again. Miss Case was gone. The audience gasped with surprise to find that her voice had been coming from the New Edison.

Mr. Santa Claus! Come in and hear the phonograph that did it

We want you to see it, listen to it, test it for yourself. This marvelous phonograph can give the family more pleasure than any other instrument you can buy them for Christmas.

Here is why:

This phonograph has actually proved that it can match the performance of the living artist—and match it so perfectly that no one can tell its RE-CREATION from the living performance.

It did this on March 10, 1920 before 2500 people at Carnegie Hall, New York City—with Anna Case, the world-famed soprano. It did this on September 30th, 1919, before 2500 people at Carnegie Hall, Pittsburgh—with Marie Rappold, prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company. It did this on November 5th, 1919, before 6500 teachers at the State Armory, Albany—with Mario Laurenti of the Metropolitan Opera Company. It did this over 4000 other times, with more than fifty great vocalists and instrumentalists. You can read the facts of these amazing achievements in the leading newspapers of the United States and Canada. They are the talk of the music and scientific world.

And the phonograph? It's the Official Laboratory Model of the New Edison, "the phonograph with a soul." Every Official Laboratory

Model in our store is an exact duplicate of the famous original Official Laboratory Model which cost Mr. Edison three million dollars to perfect. It is capable of sustaining the test of direct comparison; we guarantee this.

Get an Official Laboratory Model for Christmas. You will have the one phonograph which brings you the living performances of great artists exactly as those artists have given them. You know this is so! The proof has been given! The absolute, scientific proof!

Say the word,—and we'll save an Official Laboratory Model for you, and deliver it in time for Christmas.

The NEW EDISON "The Phonograph with a Soul"

Test It Yourself

You'll be able to recognize its superiority with your own ears—in every kind of vocal and instrumental music. Come in and see whether this isn't so. We'll gladly give you Mr. Edison's famous Realism Test.

Money Help

Ask about our Budget Plan. It shows you how to make best use of your Christmas money. It brings your New Edison for Christmas, and makes 1921 help pay. Careful, systematic spending always makes money go farther.

Prices

There is no inflation in Edison Prices. "Edison stood the Gaff" to keep his favorite invention within the reach of everyone.

SENATE BATHS PUT IN READINESS FOR SESSION OPENING

Never Used Because of Charges of Extravagance; Baths Will be Opened Soon

WASHINGTON.—By The Associated Press.—The Gracero-Roman baths of the United States senate, installed nearly eight years ago, but never put into service, are being cleared of cobwebs and stains of time, and will be in shape to offer their luxuries of steam, plunge, shower and electricity to the members of the new senate when it assembles. Charges of extravagance were a cloud at the baths in congressional debate when the power of administration last swung from republican to democratic and as a result the baths, installed in the then new senate office building, were shorn of their expensive equipment, bereft of their attendants and left to gloom. The marble slabs, Turkish rugs and steam proof tables and chairs were turned over to government hospitals and only the marble shells and nickel fittings left in place.

Now, however, the baths are coming back, but under a new plan. Members of the senate themselves will pay a large part of the operating expenses, and a special assessment will be levied against each user in proportion to the service he exacts. The baths will be less gorgeous than the original plan anticipated, but in their luxury and completeness will still have claim to comparison with private club installations.

GOVERNMENT TAKES HAND IN VERA CRUZ STRIKE

MEXICO CITY.—Government intervention in the situation at Vera Cruz, where dock workers and stevedores are on strike, will begin Wednesday, it is announced. All operations at piers will be conducted by the government, and it is believed the situation, which has threatened a general national strike, may be alleviated.

INVESTIGATE TILL HOSPITAL MADISON, Wis.—John Till, "plaster specialist," of Barron county, must remain in jail until the attorney general's office examines the plan of operation of Till's hospital, Governor Philipp announced Wednesday at a press hearing. Since Till's conviction on a charge of practicing medicine without a license he has had a regular physician in charge of the hospital.

Governor Philipp announced that if the hospital could legally be operated with a regular physician in charge he would grant a pardon. The attorney general's office has been asked to determine whether this is legal.

LEGION PROTESTS NULLIFICATION OF ALIEN LAND LAW

Californians Protest Treaty With Japan Abrogating New Measure

STOCKTON, Calif.—Karl Ross post, American Legion, has wired Secretary of State Colby protesting against any treaty with Japan that would nullify the recently adopted alien land law of California.

The telegram said: "Newspaper reports state that your department is negotiating a treaty with Japan which would nullify the recently adopted alien land law of California. That law was sponsored by the American Legion, among other patriotic organizations, and approved by the legion in annual session. Karl Ross post's 1100 members, located at Stockton, the hot bed of Japanese menace, earnestly and emphatically protest any consideration of a treaty which will open our state in any degree to Oriental exploitation and control. Nullification of our protective laws would be no less than a direct insult to the American Legion and the people of California."

The Finest Pie

Homes ever serve—Real Lemon Pie

The queen of pies is lemon pie, yet how rarely people serve it.

The home-made pie takes time and trouble, so lemon pie days come rather far apart.

Now the makers of Jiffy-Jell are making Jiffy-Pie. This is real lemon pie at its best, made to serve easily and quickly.

It comes in a package, almost ready-made. The sugar is there, the egg yolk, powdered milk, corn starch and tapioca.

The lemon essence—made from lemon peel—comes sealed in a glass bottle, so its freshness can't escape.

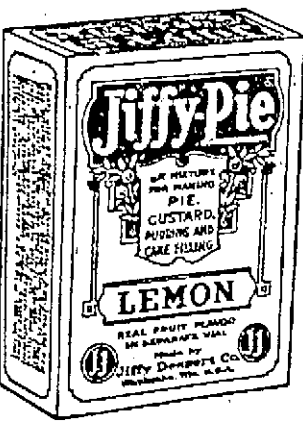

Add water, cook a little, and you have a lemon pie filler such as only few can make.

The users of Jiffy-Jell will know it must be right. That fruity dessert, with its flavors in vials, has won millions by its quality.

The same experts make this Jiffy-Pie. The same ideals are behind it. If you like one, you will like the other.

Learn this better way to make good lemon pie. The pies you make cost more than this. They take much time. And you have rare skill if you make an equal pie.

Let this way help you serve them easier and oftener.
